

WE NOMINATE

Hubert George ("Bill") Quackenbush, who in the comparative isolation and quiet of Hobart Baker Rink — while basketball enjoys an ever-rising surge of popularity — is doing a highly effective and conscientious job of stirring Princeton University's long dormant hockey interests and hopes. The prospect for a championship Princeton team is still far from view, but in the space of five months the 45-year-old Canadian-born coach, refusing to worry about the paucity of publicity and thimble-sized crowds, has been shaping a "hockey renaissance" at an institution once described as "being too far south for good college hockey."

Over the Christmas Holidays, Quackenbush's first college team shocked Proper Bostonians by whacking nationally ranked Boston College in capturing the Eastern Collegiate Tournament in the Boston Garden. There have since been defeats "on the road" by collegiate powerhouses and the long trail ahead includes several traditional Ivy League rivalries in which the Orange and Black, as has been its wont for the past dozen years, will be the pronounced under-dogs. Nonetheless, this past Friday, Quackenbush's charges returned to Boston and on Boston College's home rink, a traditionally "tough arena" for visiting squads, battled the Eagles to a 4-4 overtime tie.

Quackenbush, Princeton's fourth coach of hockey in less than a decade, had never served as a head coach until he was named in August as successor to John E. Wilson. A dominant figure in the National Hockey League for 14 seasons, he retired from the professional ice wars in 1956, entered upon a successful business career in the Greater Boston Area and returned to hockey on a part-time basis some three years ago as assistant coach at Northeastern University. In the interim he had remained interested in sports as coach of PeeWee Hockey and Little League Baseball, as a founding father of a soccer league in Wellesley, Mass., as a better-than-average golfer and tennis player and — in the evenings — as the Boston Bruins' official scorer.

An outstanding defenseman, who evenly divided 14 winters of professional hockey between the Detroit Red Wings and the Boston Bruins and was five times a member of the National Hockey League All-Star Team, Quackenbush, a naturalized American citizen since 1959, is remembered by veteran hockey observers as a "hockey player's hockey player," "an all-time defenseman" and as a "real pro" in the sense of "knowing" the opposition as well as all of the angles of a demanding, complex sport. In 1918-49 he became the first defenseman ever to carry off the coveted Lady Byng Trophy for Sportsmanship and Outstanding Ability — an honor he earned after playing 137 successive games on defense without drawing a penalty.

In his ten years "away from hockey" Quackenbush, a product of Toronto Schools, where he captained both Senior Hockey and Football Teams, was associated in executive positions with industrial and engineering firms in New England. As active as he was in civic affairs and, subsequently, in community athletics as a father of three sons, including 12-year-old twins, he continued his education. In 1962, upon completing four years of evening study in Lincoln Institute, Northeastern University, he received the degree of Associate of Civil Engineering.

For moulding a team which he describes as "a fine team with a lot of balance and tremendous hustle," for stirring memories among the "Baker faithful" of those years when Princeton "was sometimes in the scramble for the Ivy Championship;" for understanding that the men with whom he is working are first concerned with education and then with athletics; he is 'TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

"DEAR EDITOR:"

"This Is Where I Stand." One of the best-read sections in virtually any type newspaper or magazine is provided not by the publication itself but by its readers. Letters to the Editor invariably illustrate what a portion of the community has to say on its mind, frequently bring forth a brand of writing that is both persuasive and highly literate.

From time to time, TOWN TOPICS takes pleasure in opening the contents of its "Mailbox" on page one because there is almost always. As the notice governing such correspondence states, they must be signed for publication, because belief here that writers should have the courage of their convictions. One of an anonymous nature, taking a negative stand on the current Waterspoon Street parking controversy, has accordingly been withheld from publication.

Among the letters received in the past several days is one from Vietnam, expressing the traditional of a community to those to whom many Princeton area residents took the time and trouble to extend holiday greetings. "Each such message adds to the morale at this season," wrote Mr. Donald Loos, "when we remember how many things we share as free Americans."

Others ask to be heard on topics ranging from the steady-debated question of altered parking regulations on Waterspoon Street to a detailed airing of traffic at the Princeton Junction overpass. One of Princeton's mayors has suggested for his stand on improving human rights, the other is urged to quicken life in this direction.

This week, these were among the opinions expressed in "Mailbox."

Heartfelt Thanks.

To the Editor of Town Topics: On behalf of all of us whose names are printed, and especially to those thoughtful persons who remembered us with Christmas cards and letters, I may say a heartfelt THANK YOU. I have not had time to think each one individually, nor probably have the rest of the list, but the thoughtfulness of those who took time out of his or her busy pre-Christmas schedule to write did bring cheer to us far from Princeton.

The wife of one busy doctor said that she was surprised to see her busy husband write such main on the list. On his note he said very appropriately, "Sometimes I am afraid that there is too much material given to a few friends. Let me assure you that the great majority of Americans recognize that we have a job to do, why as it may be, and are very grateful for the contribution you are making and help preserve our free world, and eventually to bring peace to all men."

When I replied to this kind note, the doctor's wife continued:

and the thoughtfulness in her reply by this opinion when we picture. One ten year old girl-bless her heart-sent her color picture. Another 10 year old promised hers, if I wrote her!

Each such message did make a nice boost in our morale this season when we remember how many blessings we share as free Americans. Thank you for each of us and thank you, Princetonians, for your remembrance.

By the way, congratulations on the fine salute to talented John McNehe Town Topics Man of the Week, Dec. 21, 1967. I shall look forward to his latest published masterpiece.

Very gratefully yours, DON LOOS

Editor's Note: Major Donald Loos is among the Princeton area service men currently in Vietnam. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Loos, Jr., of Erdman Avenue.

Towship Trails Burrough.

To the Editor of Town Topics: It was most heartening to read that Township Mayor Carl Schaler has designated low-income housing as "Our most important single item of 1968." Long, long overdue, the promise will be even more praiseworthy when it becomes a reality.

There's other pressing business that is also long overdue in the township: The need for more adequate enforcement of the housing code by the Board of Health. The health department of a Certificate of Occupancy (A residential health certificate including both borough and township would make even more sense.)

In both these areas—low income housing and application of housing code—the Borough Board of Health is modest as it is, far exceeded that of the Township. To go from the C.O. to the word (much to be recommended at a time and in a place much given to lip service). Borough Mayor Henry Patterson declared in his New Year's Day message:

"We insist that every business in Princeton Borough and every business that operates in and out of Princeton Borough must treat every customer as an individual, and every employee on a job opportunity, employment practices, the sale or rental of housing, or the many other facets of our economic and community life."

A strong, affirmative statement of like nature from the Township Mayor—with intent to enforce—would be welcomed by those of us in the Township who believe in the right of all men everywhere to live in dignity and justice, even in our own home town.

Sublinks for the Elderly.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I read with interest your account of what Princeton has to offer to the "Golden Age" group (Town Topics, Jan. 4). One thing that I thought would be nice would be a sidewalk at the Lloyd Terrace project for the elderly. I've watched at least one "Golden Age" lady

NOTE: TOWN TOPICS will make every effort, based on space available, to publish up to 500 words of letters on subjects directly affecting the Princeton community. Because of the volume of news which must be covered at the community level, letters on topics of a national or international nature cannot be published.

Letters to Mailbox should be expedient if possible, double-spaced, and must be signed for publication. Letters received on Tuesday or Thursday afternoon may be held for use the following week.

try to make her way from Nassau Street to the Project against the Harrison Street traffic.

It is an interesting thing about people in automobiles. Some nice friendly "mothers," mothers of Peace, and good PTA member who wouldn't think of pushing you into somebody's living room, but get her behind the wheel in the family station wagon with a load of children to deliver, and you'll think she rubs her hand on the Washington New York express along the PRR right-of-way. Machines do not care whether it is people whether its motorists, the Public Service road diggers, or the clerks who run the computers for the bank — put a policeman in charge of a machine, and the machine seems to take over.

But that's not what I wanted to write about. I want to suggest that a project for the elderly ought to have extra consideration in the form of sidewalks and street lighting. Least anyone take umbrage with anything I've said, I think and is being done that has been done and is being done for the elderly is fine. I just think that a little sidewalk along Harrison from the Project to Nassau Street would help.

Warning: Accident Ahead.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I would like to bring to the public attention, and make a plea for the correction of, an extremely dangerous highway condition in our area. This is the eastbound approach to the railroad bridge in Princeton Junction.

The main road makes an unexpectedly sharp left turn at this point, while the old section of Washington Road continues straight ahead to the railroad tracks. These features combine to create the visual impression that the highway continues straight ahead, an illusion that is especially pronounced at night when the lights of the group of stores on the other side of the bridge appear to be a few hundred feet "straight down the road."

If one observes the behavior of the traffic at this point, he will notice repeated uncertainty, hesitation, and error, especially on the part of out-of-state drivers. On at least four occasions in the past few years, cars have actually ended up on the railroad tracks, usually causing some injury to the occupants.

This past year a wayward car was destroyed by a train moments after its occupants had escaped. The Pennsylvania Railroad has attempted to stem the flow of traffic onto the tracks by erecting heavy wooden fences, but they are repeatedly destroyed by vehicles.

Two years ago I took a set of photographs of this road section, and showed how this deceptive illusion can be eliminated by the painting of fluorescent yellow lines which clearly delineate the path of the highway, and serve to alert the errant driver before he reaches the tracks.

I presented this set of pictures to the West Windsor Township committee which unanimously endorsed the suggestion and forwarded the pictures to the State Highway Department with a request that this be done. Nothing was ever done.

If a driver approaching this intersection is alert and very dutifully observes and follows the road signs, he may find himself in even worse trouble. The first sign he comes to reads "Highlands, Freehold," and it has an arrow which is squarely aimed up the down ramp of the bridge. This sign (which appears more like the work of a depraved prankster than a competent highway engineer), was probably responsible for the head-on collision of the bridge that sent two people to the hospital a few weeks ago.

Although a major reconstruction of this area would be desirable, I feel that it could be made reasonably safe by the judicious placement of the right kinds of reflector type signs, and the painting of fluorescent yellow lines in the right place on the roadway. Financially, the cost of these improvements would be less than the cost of the several accidents that take place there each year. From a humanitarian viewpoint, the benefits are obvious, so I will forego the traditional predictions of impending tragedy.

In Support of Forer's Plea.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter sent today to Mayor and Council:

On the subject of Witherspoon Street parking and Forer's Pharmacy, others have written about the important services Mr. Forer provides to the neighborhood and the community.

I would like to add this: those of us who cross town to trade with him know that Mr. Forer is a compassionate merchant in a business that is not known for granting mercy to the consumer.

This temporarily displaced borough resident urges you to work out a solution that will prevent Mr. Forer from being driven out of his present location, and perhaps out of the community he has served so well.

Dog Owner Is Grateful.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to take time during this holiday season, to bring to the attention of the public the wonderful work your "Princeton Small Animal Rescue League" is doing.

Our dog, "Ralph," was lost while out hunting with my brother, in the woods of Hopewell. This Hopewell area was completely alien to our family, since we live at the far end of Franklin Township.

He was lost on a Friday afternoon, and through your "Small Animal Rescue League" was reported found on Sunday morning. Needless to say, the children are eternally grateful to have "Ralph" back, safe and sound. Your community is indeed fortunate to have such an efficient and humane group, working to protect your pets.

It is a very gratifying experience to find that people, capable of caring, are willing to give their time and energy, to protect our pets — even if they come from another community, as "Ralph" did.

So please remember to support this organization, as this is the only way they can continue this wonderful work they are doing. If you are an animal lover, or a pet owner, ask you to please remember, next time, it could be you, who may need their help.

TRAIN KILLS YOUTH

A Faculty Road Crash, One 18-year old boy was killed and another seriously injured Tuesday night when their convertible was struck by the Pennsylvania Railroad shuttle train at Faculty Road. The accident occurred shortly before 10 p.m.

Dead on arrival at Princeton Hospital was Jeffrey J. McGreggor, 42 Henry Avenue. He had moved to Princeton from Plainfield last fall and had enrolled about December 1 in Princeton High School.

The other occupant of the car was Anthony G. Bloch, son of Daniel J. Bloch, 90 Jefferson Road. He was admitted to the hospital with multiple contusions, abrasions and lacerations of the scalp, left leg and hip. Township Patrolman John Hammond, the investigating officer, was not immediately able to learn from Bloch which one had been driving.

The car was dragged by the two-car shuttle for 600 feet following the crash. The impact broke the air hose which provides braking pressure for the "dinky," and it could not be hauled until it lost momentum. The 1965 convertible, which had been given west on Faculty Road toward Alexander, was demolished.

Young Bloch was thrown free of the automobile after it had been dragged approximately 300 feet. Macgreggor's body remained inside.

Policeman Hammond, quoting as witnesses the conductor of the train, a passenger and a University security guard, said that the shuttle had sounded its whistle and that the crossing lights had flashed its approach. The train was moving downgrade toward Princeton Junction at the time of the collision.

McGreggor was a part-time employee at Princeton Hospital, and had just completed his first day on duty on Tuesday. Bloch, whose condition on Wednesday morning was listed as "fair," is a 1967 graduate of Princeton High School. A younger brother, Andrew, is a junior there.

FACTS AND FIGURES
School Budget Explained: A $3.8 million budget, up $700,000 from last year's $3.2 million, was outlined this week by members of the Board of Education of the Princeton Regional School District.

Next week's "Regional Profile," to be mailed to every home in Borough and Township, will contain an explanation of the budget. Public hearing will be held at the high school at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, January 23.

The estimated school tax increase will be 48c (Borough) and 78c (Township), according to William Evans, business manager of the district.

Board member Winthrop Pike, a member of the finance committee, said at a press conference on Tuesday that the new budget will mean about $49 more in school taxes for the owner of a $30,000 Borough house. In the Township, the owner of a $30,000 house will pay about $144 more in school taxes.

Mr. Evans explained that under a new state law, the business personal property tax has been removed from rateable property for school tax purposes. This means an unnatural inflation of about 10% in the school-tax figure, but should result in an eased situation for many family taxes. Mr. Evans said.

The Why of Increase. The budget increase is due to two factors: $250,000 more in salaries and about $200,000 new expenses required by state law, or by previous commitments. The largest of these is the increase in transportation, chiefly — but not entirely — traceable to the state's private-parochial school busing law.

There is also the $38,000 that is the school share of re-allocation. Franklin, $40,000 for special services to handicapped children as required by state law, and $17,000 to pay off the $75,200 that Princeton will borrow in finance non-public school busing. The other half will be paid in 1969-70.

To finance the new bus law so far this year, the school has had to take $80,000 out of its reserve fund, leaving a slender balance of only $104,000. Superintendent Philip Macgreggor said that for a district the size of Princeton's, a reserve of $100,000 would be about right. The school loses about $80,000 in tuition as Montgomery and Rocky Hill take out their pupils, Mr. Pike said; however, tuition for remaining ending districts to the elementary school will go up from $775 to $900. Also, without Rocky Hill's children, the school system will need fewer elementary teachers, and this helps to cushion the tuition loss.

For the transportation of its own public-school children, the system spend a new $10,000 for two bus routes to transport kindergarten through five children who live one and one-half to two miles from school; it may have to spend $5,000 for a new bus route for children in University housing. The cost of private-parochial transportation currently is $60,000 including the cost of contract buses and the school's own buses, and Mr. Evans anticipates a cost increase of $80,000. The actual cost of this new law to the district would be $100,000 or so of the full-time expert required to handle the transportation logistics.

Mr. Macgreggor said he expects lower administrative costs for non-public busing after its first year. Moving out of the parking lot and into the classroom, the board has in its budget: A full-time learning disability specialist.

Increased time for a psychologist already in the staff.

Supplemental teachers in various subjects, especially to strengthen Special Services at the high school level.

One more "Special Class" (there are now four), and possibly a class for emotionally disturbed children.

Two teachers for "Transitional" classes, seventh eighth grade. These classes are designed to re-inforce slow learners in basic subjects, so the youngsters can go on to high school with self confidence. School officials hope "Transitional" classes will lower the high school drop-out rate.

One social worker, whose salary vanished when Federal Title I monies were cut, has been absorbed into the school's own budget.

$15,000 for summer school, with free tuition for remedial classes and minimal tuition for enrichment.

Minding the Store. For housekeeping, the board has an administrative staff of 11 with $2,000 budgeted for their salary increases. The 17 include two new jobs still to be filled: a professional who will devote full time to personnel matters such as hiring new teachers, and a Director of Finance. The salary of the finance director is actually the salary of Norman Anderson, formerly on the board's business staff, carried along on the school books since Mr. Anderson left Princeton a year ago.

The budget also includes a full-time "craftsman" (handyman) and two more full-time employees for outside maintenance work.

The population to be served by the $2.9 million is estimated to be 1,500 students in the 1980-81 school year, a drop of 60 from the estimated 1,560 of the current year, and a drop of 143 from 1966-67.

TRUCK SKIDS ON 206

Princeton Injured. Four persons were slightly injured Monday afternoon, when a tractor-trailer skidded and then jackknifed across Route 206, hitting two cars coming in the opposite direction. The driver of the truck, Robert P. Butler, 39, of Trenton, received a bump on the head. The driver of the first car, Mr. End G. Howland, 49, of River Road, Belle Mead, was scratched by flying glass. The entire left side of her car was damaged.

After striking the Howland car, the truck continued on for another 81 feet and rammed a Volkswagen driven by Russell J. Deaton, 21, 121 University Way, Princeton Junction. He was knocked momentarily unconscious from a cut on the back of his head. A passenger in his car, John Davidson Sr., 63, 308 Franklin Avenue, sustained lacerations of the face and knees.

Pit. Robert Heacock, who investigated the mishap, reported that the truck's right wheels went off on the highway's right shoulder, which was covered with snow and ice. This caused the truck to jackknife and it turned completely around before it came to rest on the opposite side.

Pit. Heacock made no charges. The accident took place at 1:35 p.m. across from Moore's Motor Service and the latter section of Cherry Valley Road.

"Katie, Bar the Door." Princeton motorists' calls for road service swarmed the garages and the AAA Monday as the temperature dropped to zero.

"We had to close the door!" was the reaction on Tuesday at Pete & Mike's Motor Station, Bayard Lane. "We can't get to the calls we have now

Thursday went into the books as the coldest January 9th on record. Officially, the Weather Bureau reported a low of 1, but many a thermometer in outlying areas touched zero and below.

Winter has more in store. Snow is a possibility Thursday night, Friday will bring more cold of the deep freeze variety. Even Tuesday's record may not last through the weekend, the M's warned.

A lot of people are angry with us. They say "we've been a customer of yours for a long time!" but we take the calls in rotation."

Mike Perna at Route 206, Rocky Hill, estimates he's been getting "up to 40 AAA calls a day." Battery sales are up around town, but more of the trouble has been heavy oil in the car, or lack of care of the motor. "A car needs care, just like a horse," one garage man said wearily. The Township garage spread 70 tons of sand and salt mixture on the roads, starting with Saturday's snowfall. John Clausen reports. The crews worked from 9:30 p.m. Saturday until 8 on Sunday morning. Sunday afternoon, a small crew pushed back snow drifts on Quaker Road, Mercer Road and Cherry Valley Road. They were not calling again for an hour overtime on Monday night.

A spring at the top of the hill on The Great Road near Princeton Day School overflooded Monday, leaving a sheet of ice on the road, reducing Tuesday morning traffic to a crawl. The Township sent a machine up there later to scrape the ice off the road.

IF YOUTHS CAUGHT

In U. S. 1 Drug Raid. Seven juveniles and five juveniles, a majority of them from Princeton, were arrested Friday night by members of several police departments following a narcotics raid at the Palmer Motor Inn on Route 1.

Police released the names of seven of these arrested whose ages ranged between 19 and 22. Of these, four have been charged with possession of narcotics and contributing to the delinquency of minors.

They are Harry Alvino, 22, of State Road; Mark R. Soldavino, 19, of Route 518, Skillman; John Duncan, 19, 81 Leigh Avenue; and Alan D. White, 19, of Trenton. White is unemployed, police said. The other three are allegedly students at colleges outside the Princeton area. Alvino is presently free on $3,000 bail in connection with his arrest October 11 on another narcotics charge. Arrested and charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors are Raymond C. Soldavino, 20, of Route 518, Skillman, and Mark Bahadurani, 19, of 15 Merritt Lane, Rocky Hill, both unemployed, and Paul H. Dyer, 21, 151 Jet.

News Of The THEATRES

"MERCHANT" OPENS
In McCarter Repertory. A sumptuous production of "The Merchant of Venice," illumined by a thoughtful and deeply moody portrayal of Shylock by David Byrd, opened the winter season of McCarter Theatre's 1967-68 repertory series Friday.
This McCarter production is a straightforward on a "e."
"Shakespeare straight up,"
as Director Arthur Lithgow comments in his program notes.

The rock 'n' roll surprise of last fall's "Twelfth Night" is absent. This is Shylock. Portia, Antonio and all the rest as a student might imagine them while he reads the play.
The charming music is pure and subtle, imaginative but never intrusive. (Watch Jessica and Lorenzo pick out constellations of stars in the
"in such a night" dialogue).
Program Notes Questioned.
Mr. Lithgow says in his notes that this "Merchant" is played "just as it was written" with out special messages for our own time.

And yet, upon a contemporary audience, the strident played in this play between Jew and Christian has quite a different impact from what it had in Shakespeare's day. Mr.
Lithgow writes that Shylock is "an individual money-lender (of the Renaissance) who happens to be Jewish." He doesn't "happen to be Jewish" at all.
Shakespeare deliberately made him a Jew, and it is absurd to imagine what kind of "Merchant" we would have if he were not Jewish.

The problems presented to a modern actor by Shylock are considerable, and the interpretation of Shylock thought out and acted upon by David Byrd is clearly for our own time.
Mr. Byrd may well have taken for his base the speech in which Shylock says: "Hath not a Jew hands, organs, dimensions, affections, passions?
... If you prick us, do we not bleed? ... If you poison us, do we not die?"

A Sombre Shylock. His Shylock is sombre and contained, a man of dark fire who has been deeply scarred by Christian taunts of his Jewishness.
So strongly sustained and firmly held is Mr. Byrd's portrait that when the trial scene comes at the end, and Shylock must bear the beating of the loud-mouthed Gratiano, the pound of flesh seems almost forgotten and the modern audience finds its sympathies with Shylock and against his intolerant Christian tormen-

POUND OF FLESH: David Byrd as Shylock whets his half in McCarter's production of "The Merchant of Venice."

tors. Mr. Byrd's Shylock does not cringe off the stage at his final exit after the trial and judgment—he moves slowly away, talking softly to himself from his own deep thought.
It is a valid interpretation, undergirded by Shakespeare's own words and given particular strength by Mr. Byrd's total skill as an actor.

CLAREN

THE COMEDIANS: Peter Ustinov, cast as a South American ambassador serving in Haiti, accuses his wife, Elizabeth Taylor, of infidelity in this scene from the film version of Graham Greene's novel, set against the background of "Papa Doc's" dictatorship in Haiti. At the Playhouse this week.

The other strong member of the cast is Anne Cox Byrd, a Portia of high and laughing spirit, who seems to bring her wit and sharp intelligence straight from the pages of Bernard Shaw.

Keeping pace with these two is quite an assignment. Audiences will remember with pleasure two minor roles—the silver and chain—the gold and silver carrels in hopes of reaching Portia's fortune. Like Dengel, the Prince of Aragon, is a delicately lecherous and arrogant aristocrat. Viscount Balzo, the Prince of Noro, has the whirling kind of greed that draws special laughter when he says, upon opening the wrong casket, "O hell! what have we here?"

A Comptroller Antonio, As Antonio, the merchant of Venice who is Shylock's adversary, K. Lyne O'Dell is straightforward, his performance is competent, and that's really all one can ask of an Antonio; it's a part which offers much excitement for an actor.

Phillip Rio is once again a delightful clown, performing as Launcelot Gobbo. Susan Bayle as Jessica, Shylock's daughter, is not required to do much except show her olive-skinned beauty.

In all the cast, there are only two really weak spots: Timothy Jerome, as Bassanio, doesn't have enough sizzle and vigor to attract a girl as intelligent and spirited as Portia. Daniel Hamilton, as Jessica's suitor, makes a frail showing indeed with some of Shakespeare's loveliest lyric poetry.

Somewhere there should be a special citation for Elizabeth Taylor's costumes (and the splendid director who let him spend all that money). Velvet and sequins, pearl-encrusted bodices, crowns of gold and jewels, heavy folds of brilliant satin, have all been ardently designed to catch the bright theatrical lights with the kind of dazzle they certainly never saw in Renaissance Venice.

But we'd like to leave with a returning note of praise for Mr. Byrd's performance. If "The Merchant of Venice" is far back in your history, look it up with the school books and never loughed since, by all means go to McCarter and see what a thoughtful actor can bring to the role of Shylock.

—Katharine Brettell

DISCUSSION PLANNED

On "Enrico." Members of the audience are invited to participate this Friday night after the final McCarter curtain, in a discussion of Pirandello and his "Enrico IV."

Dean Ernest Gordon of the Princeton University Chapel, and Arthur Litigow, executive director of McCarter Theatre, will lead the discussion. Any who wish to be invited to remain after the performance of "Enrico" and join in the task.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The comedians (now playing) For those unfamiliar with the Graham Greene novel on which the film is based, it should be noted that "The Comedians" is not a comedy. It is a melodrama, ironic tale set in modern-day Haiti and is concerned with some foreigners who come in conflict with the men who run the police state there under the dictatorship of Francis ("Papa Doc") Duvalier.

The most important characters are six outsiders, played by Richard Burton, Elizabeth Taylor, Alec Guinness, Peter Ustinov, Paul Ford and Lillian Gish. The cast is backed up by a good, solid set of the best Greene tradition of his requirements.

Burton is the aristocratic Englishman who has inherited a hotel in Haiti from his mother, leave the hotel to sell it, and leave the troubled country. One thing that keeps him there

IT'S NEW To Us

THREE SLEEVES?
 Sure. Why Not? Three sleeves are simpler than one, or even two, said the pattern maker at Simplicity, wickied cutting away with his three shaded scissors.
 The result of his snappy attitude is a three-sleeved wrap-around dress, also available from McCall's, and the fond pet of the Fabric Shop, Chambers Street, for winter and spring dressmaking.

You — notice the "you" not we — you can make a three-sleeved wrap-around in 60 to 90 minutes. (The Fabric Shop adds that this is "pushing a little.")

You buy a yard and five eighths for a small size, or cut the dress crosswise, not lengthwise as you normally do. There are no raw edges, no seams, only a nice binding at all around, and where the binding goes down the front you have a shimmering vertical streak that adds quite a bit of dash to a simple wrap dress.

 Fabric can be anything with body. Sailcloth would be great for warmer weather. For now, you can make one out of a good wool. Or, make one wholly lined, so that the contrasting color of your lining flaps back cheerfully as you walk.

You can make the dress with a couple of sleeves, by the way, but it has a lot more dash with just the three armholes.

If you're curious about the dress, stop at the Chambers Street shop and look at the small one they've made up. Patterns come in new sizes, by the way.

Are you taking advanced sewing or tailoring from the Princeton Adult School? Fabric Shop has the wools for the dress, stop at the Chambers Street shop and look at the small one they've made up. Patterns come in new sizes, by the way.

Cost backings, two-faced satin linings, hair canvas and the classic patterns (some of them "to order") are also available at this shop.

There are designer woollens, with the Safire backing allowed. Bonded fabrics are not permitted in the tailoring course.
BLACK AND WHITE . . . And Pink All Over. If you new spring slip-covers aren't black-and-white, they are pink. Princeton Decorating, in Palmer Square, ponders the inclination of pink combined with mustard — "whoever would have thought of such a combination five years ago!" and suggests that Spring 1964 is a Pink Spring. Pink in all shades, by the way, has preferably bright.

Here's a soft pink background for a flutter of very realistic butterflies in soft orange. Here are high pink and low pink flowers, the kind with smoky edges against a background of white spring snow.

Gene McDonald, the wall paper man, goes along with a painty design in pastel pinks and blues and a flower print with the same colors, mixed in with a bit of mustard.
 Mustard alone appears in Yen Mod or Old?

Age bracketing will do you no good in the decorating business.

They tell us at Princeton Decorating that young marrieds in their twenties are diverse and unpredictable in taste. One young bride will choose the wild, hot off-the-cheron print, a blaze with pink-orange, olive black, royally-ally all side by side.

Another, just her age, will want subdued paisleys that her mother might reject as just too, too, quiet. She may even want calico.

A nice in-between is the shop's print of square, overlapping doughnuts, edges slightly rounded, in soft shades of olives, rusts and black.

formal scroll-work on ivory, and there are white flowers against a rich bronze mustard. Sounds too much like autumn? You'd be surprised at the spring freshness of the golden line, especially stirred with turquoise.
 Now, about black and white. Princeton Decorating shows pineapples in finely etched botanical form against a white ground, and black birds in the same faithful, etched accuracy, also against white.

For mads, Princeton Decorating has a far, far, far animal print with a little bit of leopard, giraffe, zebra and — ummm, cheetah? — romping together in what may be animal forms, but you have to look hard. (Colors in colors, too, and you can just imagine the color combinations.)

PINK FLIES SOUTH.
 With A Line. Be a flamingo. Shrug one of Nevius-Voorhees' flamingo-pink sweaters over your shoulders and wing your way while. Or wear it while you hug the fire at home; it will keep you warmer than a bear's heart.

These sweaters, a nice mix of cables and such, also come in a ripe time without the cables. Skirts go along — you know how it is.

We found some of the gayest large-size animal print at Nevius. On the rack up in front are bright young swirls — Continue on Next Page VALLEY OF THE DOLLS focuses on the glamour girls of the Broadway-Hollywood circuit and the "dolls" (papa pills) that keep them swinging. Barbara Parkins, Sharon Tate and Patty Duke share the lead roles with Susan Hayward. Held over at the Prince.

New Of The Theatres

is the presence of his mistress, played by Miss Taylor, who wed to a South American ambassador (Ustinov). Guinness is a bogus English major who tries to swindle the government in an arms deal. Ford and Miss Gish are a horny couple from the U.S. who have come to the island to set up a center for vegetarians.

Except for the ending of the film, Greene has written a screenplay that is extremely faithful to his novel. This necessarily makes for an episodic script but one that is steadily absorbing. The dialogue is crisp and literate, as one would expect. Haiti looks like a miniature Nazi Germany in this devastating indictment of a brutal dictatorship.

PRINCE

Valley of the Dolls (held over). Drug and sex drama based on Jacqueline Susann's novel about talented girls attempting to find happiness in the highly competitive Broadway-Hollywood circuit. Cast includes Patty Duke, Barbara Parkins, Susan Hayward and Sharon Tate. (Previously reviewed).

"DOLLS" BREAKS RECORD

At Prince Theatre. "The Valley of the Dolls" has broken all previous attendance records at the Prince Theatre. Aside from Steve Harris of the Budco Theatre chain.

The 800-seat theatre turned people away on Friday and Saturday, "even on New Year's Eve with all the snow!" Mr. Harris told Town Topics Tuesday.

It's the biggest thing we have ever had at the Prince. The critics cut it apart—but there's nothing wrong with it basically. It's about "papa pills," not dope. In Hollywood they call a pep pill a "doll." The film, held over against this week, has attracted largely a female audience in the 18 to 30 age group, he added.

GARDEN

Bonnie and Clyde (held over). Romance and crime based on the lives of Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow who robbed banks and killed some 18 people during the 1930's. Aside from the moral viewpoint, the story is splendidly acted by Warren Beatty and Faye Dunaway. Director Arthur Penn, always fluid and inventive, gives the picture a quiet, a lyrical quality, and his use of slow motion in the final slaying scene is very effective. The car chase and gun fights are exciting, and the 1930's have been vividly re-created in every respect.

CLUB PLANS FILM

On Bahama Islands. "The Robinsons—Top to Bottom," a color motion picture will be narrated by its maker, Harry Pederson, beginning at 8 p.m. Thursday at Trenton's Junior High School No. 3, West State Street and Park Avenue. The film is sponsored by the Trenton Naturalist Club and the National Audubon Society. Mr. Pederson, a noted photographer, writer and lecturer from McAllen, Tex., has done work for Time, Inc. Books, Walt Disney productions and

Try Out for "Hamlet"

Tryouts will be held this Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings for the production of Shakespeare's "Hamlet" that will be given later in the spring by Theatre Intime and the University's Chapel Deacons. Anyone is eligible to try out. Hours are 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall, where the production will be given.

Robert Rockwell, of Theatre Intime, who directed "Under Milkwood," and played Petruchio in "Taming of the Shrew" will direct.

Such film documentaries as "The Sea Around Us." The current film tours the Bahama Islands including its underwater areas.

Tickets will be sold at the door. Further information about this film, others in the series and activities of the club may be obtained from Mrs. Charles Burrill, 924-1998.

HIT THE ROAD

For High School Actors. Veteran troopers from the Mercury Players, Princeton High's sophomore class acting group, will take to the road next week.

"Two For Fun," a pair of one-act plays, will be given for students at the Middle School next Monday and Tuesday, and at Manasquan High School on Wednesday.

The "Two" are Chekhov's "The Marriage Proposal" starring Jim Peckin, Naomi Lewin and Dan Schay, and Thornton Wilder's "The Grapes of France" starring Marc Darow, Gay Miller, Martha Moravec and Rich Martin.

Members of the technical crew are Pat Kidd, Bambini Fure, Peter Kauffman and Bob Hale. Lawrence A. Manser, English teacher at Princeton High, directs both plays. One of the plays will be Princeton High's entry in the annual Rider College Drama Festival in the spring.

It's New To Us

of color that swing all the way up to size 20, and slip into a suitcase corner without making a bit of fuss.

One larger size is an ariel crepe in natural, with a very low blouse waistline restraining the burst of pleats that go all around the skirt. Polka-dots all over, here and there, are dots of coffee and licorice, nice against the natural cream. No sleeves.

That good natural hue appears again in a bonded jacket dress with short sleeves, an open shirt, throat and a lingerie scarf to fill it in. Natural "linen" has squares of honey, and coffee making up the color of tortoiseshell buckles is closed.

Lots of stitching in "Neveus" is a sort of dress. The models have close rows of tiny stitches making arrows that point in from the bone, perhaps, rows that march straight down the front of the dress in a wide panel. Colors in these dresses are bright Wolf Disney productions and lime, or a soft Dior blue.

leaven Road, a student at Rutgers University.

They were released in $2,000 bail each set by West Windsor Township magistrate William Buntine. A hearing set for Tuesday night was postponed until January 20.

Also arrested in the raid were five juveniles between 15 and 17, four of them girls. Two of the four attend Princeton High School, one a private school in Princeton and the fourth from Trenton, police said, does not attend.

They were released in the custody of their parents. The 15th juvenile, a boy who does not attend school, was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Will Wait for Court Action. Kenneth Michael, principal of Princeton High School, said that school authorities would take no action against the two PHS students "until we see what the courts do and what recommendations they may make." He added that since the incident took place outside the school, he was not sure, legally, if the school could take any action. "As a matter of fact," he said, "The police haven't contacted me yet and told me who they are."

"Officially, I don't even know who's involved," He added, however, he was aware of their identity because news of this type of thing spreads rapidly through the school.

Police reported they uncovered a collection of amphetamines or "pep" pills and some white powder which was sent to state police labs for analysis for narcotic content. The raid was the result of a continuing investigation of suspected narcotic activity at the moor inn, according to state police investigator Robert L. McMahon, one of the leaders of the raid.

Also taking part in the 11 p.m. raid were Detective Joseph Flynn of the State Police narcotics squad, newly appointed Chief of Police of West Windsor Township, Francis Maguire; Detective Norman Servis of the Township Police and five troopers from the Princeton Barracks.

The management of the motel, a popular gathering place for students and their dates, cooperated fully with the investigation, Mr. McMahon said.

Carlson Free on Bail, Joel

Carlson, 20, 42 Morris Road, charged with possession of and sale of narcotics had week by the police is currently free on bail.

Arrested in the Borough, he was charged by Borough police with possession and released in $2,500 bail for a hearing Wednesday before Magistrate Theodore T. Zanti Jr.

He was charged with the sale of marijuanna and possession of narcotic paraphernalia by the Township police. He was released Thursday when his family was able to raise the $2500 bail that had been set by Township Magistrate Judge Samuel Lennox to $5,000 — $3,000 for possession and sale of narcotics on November 15; and $2,000 for possession on December 28. Disorderly charges against Carlson are pending, according to Detective Frederick Porter, on the outcome of the findings of the courts.

Carlson's Township charges were referred to action by a Grand Jury on Tuesday.

READY FOR ELECTION?
Take Adult School Course. Background for an intelligent comprehension of presidential election issues will be provided by the Princeton Adult School's first-hour lecture series, "Centers of Power in American Politics." (See pages 20 and 21 for complete curriculum.)

The series, to be given from 8 to 9 p.m. for 10 Thursdays at Princeton High School starting January 24, will be presented in conjunction with a smaller series on "American Foreign Policy in the 20th Century," to be given by Dr. Richard D. Challenger of the Princeton University faculty.

In the "Centers of Power" series, subjects and speakers will be "Competition for Power," Professor Stanley Kelley Jr. of Princeton, "Special Interest Groups," Professor Jameson W. Doug of Princeton, "Organized Labor," Joel R. Jacobson, president of the N. J. State Industrial Union Council, AFL-CIO.

"Mass Communications," Professor Irving Dillard of Princeton, "Ethnic Groups," Charles W. Wheatley of Princeton, "The Changing Role of Race," Professor W. Duane Lockard, "Organized Religion," the Rev. Ralph C. Chandler of the United Presbyterian Church. "Big

Snow Play Set

When snowstorms, any other kind of severe weather or, in fact, any emergency at all, forces the Princeton Regional School Board to close at mid-day, they will close either at 12:30 or at 1:30.

The definite time schedule was announced this week by school officials. Specific details will be worked out by principals with representatives of Parents Teacher Organizations.

Parents are urged to plan ahead with neighbors or friends so that children who are dismissed early will know exactly where they are to go when they get off the bus.

Diurnal times will be announced on WWHW an hour before the buses leave. The schedule applies to all students in the Princeton Regional school system, kindergarten through 12th grade.

Money," the Honorable Maurice Neuberger, former U. S. Senator from Oregon, now professor at Yale; "Racist Extremist Activities," Professor David Geyer of Rutgers and "Presidential Power," by a guest speaker to be announced.

STATE PUTS UP $500,000 For Princeton Bypass
Where $18 million is needed, $500,000 seems a mere pittance, but as the first money allocated toward the eventual construction of the long sought Princeton bypass (Route 92), the sum is quite significant.

The funds are earmarked for engineering and right-of-way studies for the portion between Routes 206 and 1. The bill authorizing the road, which Princetonians hope will greatly reduce truck traffic through town, was signed into law on December 18 after years of argument over the alignment.

The present route is still not favorable to all concerned, especially several Kingston residents who have formed an organization known as "PRIDE" (Proportional Intercommunity Development Board, Inc.). The members are seeking to have the alignment moved a few hundred feet further south, and have asked for a new hearing before the Middlesex County Planning Board.

The allotment was part of a $18.7 million package approved — Continued on Next Page

PARKING!

That Old Question: By a 62 vote, the Borough Planning Board Wednesday night granted an easement to W. Bryce Thompson IV so that he can use part of his property at 185 Nassau as access to two parking spaces behind the building he owns next door at 189 Nassau.

"No" votes were cast by Duane Lockhart and John Redding. The Redding plumbing firm is down the street at 234 Nassau, and Mr. Redding has been a frequent and vocal commentator on parking in that section of Nassau.

"I think the time has come to provide public parking," he stated Wednesday night. Planning Board member Arthur P. Morgan, re-elected as chairman that same evening, agreed.

In executive session, the board turned to the study of parking garages prepared by Henry Smith and now in draft form. Mr. Morgan said the report may be ready for the public by the end of January.

BE THE FIRST TO OWN ONE: Ever light a cigar in a loud speaker? Jack Cooper shows it can be done. This Rubie Goldberg device was on display this week in the gift department of the University Store. Introduced a sodium and zinc flame and you get electrically charged particles which are forced to follow the patterns that come out of the loud speaker as it plays a record ("Can-Can," in this case, Cole Porter should be alive!) As the particles move, they encounter other air particles, and this makes small pressure variations, which we hear as sound. You can actually hear the fluttering of the flame when someone opens a door. The device could possibly be used for noise-abletting in jet aircraft, and a single one could be used in a large hall to replace 400-500 speakers. Anthony Bosowski (left) and Mr. Cooper worked together at Forrester's to construct the apparatus. (Staff Photo)

Public hearing will be held here Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. At the time of his arrest early Sunday morning, Magistrate Tams had set bail at $1,500 — $5,000 for robbery and $2,500 for possession.

At Monday's hearing, Lockhart was represented by attorney Charles Popkin of the Public Defenders' Office in Trenton, who waived Lockhart's right for a preliminary hearing to await action by a grand jury. Borough Chief Peter J. McCann said that bail is now in the hands of the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office and may be raised or lowered.

Lockhart was arrested shortly before 7 o'clock Sunday morning by P.I. William Hunter and P.I. Timothy Huling of the Borough Police and by P.I. Frank Bocciauso and P.I. Anthony Pinelli of the Township in the John Clay Street area.

Police were alerted by a call from 141 Witherspoon Street reporting that a youth — Continued on Page 9

Christmas Bird Count: 21,536 and 77 Species

This past December 30, the temperature never topped 35 degrees and dropped as low as 16. Most people were happy to find a little bit of a hard frost, but the Princeton area residents spent the day tramping through fields and forests, swamps and marshes participating in the 1967 Christmas Bird Count.
Over a period lasting almost 12 hours and beginning before the birds were up at 4 a.m., the observers, split into groups of two or three, logged a total of 91 miles on foot and 331 miles by car, putting in 128 man-hours. Their reward: a record of 77 species observed, breaking the old mark of 72, plus four species never seen before on the count. The grand total amounted to 21,536 birds.
The variety of species spotted within the 15-mile circle used for the count ranged from the ubiquitous Starling (7,411 observed) to the comparatively rare (for this area) Pileated Woodpecker, which was new to the count this year.

Other birds new to the count were one Northern Waterthrush, 10 White Crowned Sparrow and four Baltimore Orioles. Some of those not new to this area included the Red Breasted Nuthatch, Palm Warbler, Oregon Junco, Carolina Wren, Long Haired Owl and Red Shouldered Hawk.

Charles Rogers, curator at Princeton University's Geyot Hall, kept his record intact of joining every Christmas Bird Count since its beginning in 1903. Mr. Rogers was 12 when he went on his first expedition, and this year walked ten miles on his 68th.

portion into a cut-de-lac.

Hearing on a plan to carve five lots out of the W. Martin Hill property on State Road next to the property of Charles Freericks, was adjourned until the February meeting. A new arrangement of the lots which would take an additional site from Mr. Freerick's property, was proposed by Mr. Quibby.

Carl Lindholm of the board was appointed liaison with the new site plan review board. Site plan members, newly appointed on January 1, are scheduled to hold their first meeting next week. Mr. Sander said.

W. Joseph Shinn has resigned as secretary of the board for reasons of health, and Mrs. Se An Pomnykala Nystrom was appointed Monday to replace him. Mr. Shinn will continue as Zoning Officer for the Township.

PETITIONS SIGNED

For Forer Pharmacy. The case of the Forer Pharmacy vs. the Borough was announced Tuesday night as Borough Council received 124 signatures, 20 letters from physicians and 14 additional letters asking re-consideration of the part of the new traffic ordinance that moves parking from the street to the Wither spoon to the east side.

Under the new ordinance, there would be "no parking in front of the pharmacy. Morris Forer, who was present, told Council he was written about 60 doctors asking them to sign a plea in his behalf. The 124 signatures were on petitions available to customers who came into his store, Mr. Forer said.

Administrator Robert F. Mooney read a letter written by Mr. Forer to Miss Strelecki, director of the Division of Motor Vehicles, asking her not to approve the designated part of the ordinance.

To Mr. Forer's charges that the Borough had not conferred with either the Township or with his neighbors in the Witherspoon area, Mayor Henry S. Patterson replied sharply that Borough had indeed conferred with Township, and that his neighbors had objected to the ordinance at all.

In fact, the mayor continued, one purpose of the ordinance was to make clear sight lines for drivers—some of them neighbors, presumably—emerging into the Witherspoon area from the streets around Mr. Forer's store. The Borough has had many complaints about poor visibility, he said. The mayor said that Mr. Forer's strongest argument was the circuitous route a customer would have to take from Princeton Hospital or the Medical Arts building to reach a parking place across from Mr. Forer's store.

At the suggestion of Councilman William Walker, Council will examine all the petitions and letters submitted by Mr. Forer. Motor Vehicle approval or disapproval is expected some time within a month.

MUSIC In Princeton

FOR VIOLIN, PIANO
Sonata Recital. A recital of sonatas by Mozart, Beethoven and Brahms will be presented this weekend in Murray Theater under the auspices of The Arts Institute. The public is invited to attend. Admission is $1.50.

Joel Lester, violin, and Louis Shaffer, piano, will perform the Mozart Sonata in A Major; Beethoven's Sonata in C minor and the Brahms Sonata in D minor. The recital will be given this Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

CECARE SIEPI SINGS
Accorded Mixed Reception. Cecare Siepi, the Metropolitan Opera star and vocal instructor, who has hitherto presented a recital Monday night at the Carter Theater in the third Series II concert of the season. John Westman was Mr. Siepi's piano accompanist.

The program that Mr. Siepi chose was on the bland side, both emotionally and musically. The artist began with a set of Baroque arias (the Italian arias) solemnly reharmonized by late 19th century Verismo hacks, and continued with songs by Berlioz, Faure, arr. by Helmi, Zundman and Goines.

On the whole, Mr. Siepi presents a noble, vocal instrument. His voice is rich, clear and wonderfully deep and dark, and his handsome countenance (despite his lack of emotional involvement), gratified his audience with an attractive performance. Occasionally his voice oversteered a few notes, especially when singing above D (above middle C), and in total, his tones were most pleasant to hear.

Unfortunately, Mr. Siepi's accompanist left much to be desired. Mr. Westman played without feeling throughout most of the program. The louder passages were banged out, while the softer ones were passed over without adherence to the structural principles of the music or the interpretational style of the performer.

In addition, Mr. Westman's tone was harsh and thin at the same time.

Choral Series Wailed

The Princeton Choral Group, rehearsing for Schubert's "Mass in G" and Hindemith's "Six Chansons," to be performed in the spring, had openings for a few singers.

Sessions are held each Tuesday night at 1:30 at the YMCA, which sponsors the group. Those interested in joining are invited to attend a rehearsal. James Palmer of Trenton State College is the director.

Following the intermission, Mr. Siepi returned to sing four songs by Richard Strauss (not up to that composer's better efforts in this medium), and concluded the program by presenting songs by Paul Bowles and two songs by Samuel Barber set to the texts of John, Agnes and James Joyce. The Barber songs were decidedly superior to the Bowles (which were mere caricatures), but both composers were displayed as creators of sensitive music with little substance.

Three encores were sung, one by Meyerbeer, another caricature.

Princeton Art Association, 11 Nassau.

The prize: free tuition for the "Introduction to Painting" class to be given by Elaine Galen under the auspices of the Association. Artists who don't happen to win the draw may still enroll in the course, devoted especially for young people.

Miss Galen will be present when the winner is drawn, in talk with the young artists' association.

Students should present work executed in any medium to the PAA office on Friday, January 19 or the Saturday of the drawing. Association officials emphasize that no competition is involved; the "scholarship" will be given to whoever is luckiest.

The class will meet on Saturday mornings from 9:30 to 12:30 starting January 27.

COMPANY SEEKS LAND

On Mt. Lucas Road, The J. P. Cleaver Co., One Palmer Square, is negotiating for the purchase of the former LaVere house on the corner of Mt. Lucas and Poor Farm Roads. From Princeton Research Lands, Inc.

The house is on 10 acres of land in the Township's engineering zone. It faces a part of the Township which is half residential, half engineering, and the zoning Board will be asked next Tuesday to decide how this affects the property and what whatever variances may be required.

SECOND WORKSHOP SET

For College Admissions. Robert L. Kirkpatrick, director of admissions at Wesleyan University, will speak on "Trends and Practices in College Admissions" at the second college admissions workshop. The date is Wednesday, January 17, at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria.

Approximately 300 parents and junior students attended the first workshop at which George Petrillo, guidance department chairman, discussed basic information about college admissions. The final meeting of the series on January 24 will feature a film, "College Perspectives," and a discussion by Mrs. Ethel Thoma, Princeton High School counselor, on "Financial Aid for College Students."

BURGLARS GET $48
From 20 Nassau. A thief entered the offices of the Automation Institute of Education at 20 Nassau Street over the weekend and took $48.50. Police said that the money had been in a metal cash box in an office desk. They reported that a window had been forced to gain entry.

$7,500 MORE NEEDED
To Reach Goal. A final report issued by the United Fund of Princeton said that the Gross campaign goal is currently being made by fund leaders.

So far the fund has raised $192,375 toward the goal of $200,275. Volunteers are still cleaning up accounts outstanding and their efforts should help in the final push to reach the goal by March 15.

BUSINESS In Princeton

MIDEST ELECTS COSBY
To Board of Directors. William B. Cosby, 239 Brookstone Drive, president of the Princeton Bank & Trust Co., has been elected to the board of directors of the Midestat Aluminum Corp., a major single source manufacturer of fabricated and finished aluminum extrusions.

"Mr. Cosby's experienced counsel comes at a time when the company can put it to best use in its planned expansion program that is designed to establish the firm as the largest in the industry," Raymond R. Sowers, president, commented. Mr. Cosby was also named to the executive committee.

William R. Cosby

Reuben Cohen, 99 Meadowbrook Drive, have been elected to the board of directors. Dr. Ahlston, vice president and chief psychologist, is a consultant on all exploratory and other studies in which psychological factors are significant. Mr. Cohen, vice president and chief statistician at ORC, is concerned with research design and methods of sampling, measurement and data analysis.

John P. McCarthy, senior partner in the Princeton law firm of McCarthy, Backs, Hicks and Day, was elected chairman of Midestat's executive committee. Midestat is located in Dayton.

TWO NAMED DIRECTORS
At ORC. Two men who have been with Opinion Research Corp. since 1956, Herbert I. Ahlston, 137 Loomis Court, and

Mr. McMillan previously was with Ted Bates & Co. as associate research director and vice president. He joined the company in 1958 as a research account executive, and was named a vice-president in 1966. A graduate of Colgate with a degree in economics, he was managing research and analysis at P. Ballantine & Sons, before joining Ted Bates.

APARTMENT PROJECT LET
To Mahoney & Zwose. A project to design and build 150 apartment units to house married students for the Livingston Campus has been awarded by Rutgers University to the Princeton firm of Mahoney & Zwose, architects and city planners.

To be designed in a manner similar to garden apartments on a heavily wooded site that was formerly occupied by Camp Kilmer, the five to six million dollar project is scheduled to be in operation by 1969. Construction of academic and dormitory buildings has already begun.

Mahoney & Zwose are presently involved in designing other contemporary garden apartment projects as well as several other development projects. Their Crystal Lake planned development project has been awarded a gold ribbon award for design excellence by the New Jersey Society of Architects.

ADR SIGNS CONTRACT
To Buy 30 Computers. Applied Data Research, Inc., of Princeton, a computer software and service company, will buy 30 computers from Digital Equipment Corp. during the next ten months.

ADR placed the order to meet its 1968 commitments, and will take initial deliveries early this spring. Each PDP 8/1 computer costs $12,800.

Some of the computers will be for companies, others will be leased in conjunction with ADR's proprietary software product, ESI (Engineering and Scientific Interpreter). Some will be used by ADR's control systems division, and the rest in various ADR research and development programs.

Founded in 1959, ADR has its executive office and research center on Route 206, with branch offices in New York, Washington, D.C., and Los Angeles. In August, 1967 it acquired Massachusetts Computer Associates, Wakefield, Mass., a computer software company, and in November it took over Data & Information Products, Chicago, a company specializing in marketing and selling data processing products and services.

ADR stock has been sold on the over the counter market since September, 1965. It went public at $5 and during 1967 had a range of $5 to $8.

SALES MANAGER NAMED
By Insurance Firm. Stuart Hahn, Dickinson & Bernard, Inc., 11 Nassau Street, has added Charles D. Puls Jr. to its staff as life insurance sales manager. The firm, founded in 1931, is one of the largest in the Princeton area, serving more than 300 policyholders.

A 1955 graduate of Dartmouth College, Mr. Puls has been a salesman for the United Central Life Insurance Co. in New York for the past six years. From 1959 to 1961 he sold insurance for Penn Mutual in New York.

Following his graduation from college, he spent four years in the Navy as an executive officer on a coastal minesweeper. Mr. Puls and his wife live in Springfield.

Dr. Alpheus T. Masao, 8 Edgell Hill, McCormick Professor of Jurisprudence in Princeton University's department of politics, will join the University of Virginia faculty next fall as Henry L. and Grace Roberts Chair.

Dr. Alpheus T. Masao, 8 Edgell Hill, McCormick Professor of Jurisprudence in Princeton University's department of politics, will join the University of Virginia faculty next fall as Henry L. and Grace Roberts Chair.

Never slipping his teaching reins, Mr. Masao was always mentioned in undergraduate polls for the "exceptional quality" of his lectures and preceptors. In 1962, he was appointed a McCosh Faculty Fellow, considered one of the highest honors Princeton can confer on faculty members for distinguished scholarship in the humanities and social sciences.

Chris DiMeglio, a senior at McMurry College, Jacksonville, Ill., has received an honorable mention for the 1967 Coaches Association soccer team. In two years at McMurry, Chris piled up 10 goals and three assists from his outside left position. He was co-captain of this year's squad and shared the most valuable player award. In 1965 he was Junior College All-American at Trenton Junior College.

Prof. Paul Ramsey, 11 Fitz-Randolph Road, Harrington Spear Faine Professor of Christian Ethics at Princeton University, has been appointed to a Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation visiting professorship of genetic ethics in the department of genetics and genealogy at the Georgetown University School of Medicine.

One of the foremost Protestant ethicists, Prof. Ramsey will focus his studies on ethical problems rising from man's increased ability to control his environment. In addition to his research Prof. Ramsey will participate in teaching of the course in ethics for medical students. He will also take part in a series of seminars bringing together specialists from various areas of medicine, law, philosophy and sociology.

Paul S. Mattov, 239 Nassau Street, a New York City social worker and businessman, has been appointed assistant director of Princeton University's Bureau of Student Aid.

A graduate of CCNY with a master's degree in social work from the Adelphi School of Social Work, Mr. Mattov will work with the admissions office in the areas of scholarship awards, loan requests and freshman interviewing. He was formerly vice president and board member of African Student Support & Distributors, Inc., New York City, and also served as a program officer with the African American Institute in New York.

SPORTS In Princeton

ANOTHER STILL COMING?
Dartmouth May Try It. The first time young Dave Gavitt, Dartmouth basketball coach, went his team against Princeton, the Tigers set a hatful of records in walloping the Indians on their own court, 116 to 42. The second time, Gavitt at last had the answer to a runaway score: in Dillon Gym last February, his players went into such a deep freeze that they held the margin down to 36-16, and who can fault too badly if he does away from home by only 14 points to one of the nation's top ten teams?

Friday night at Hanover, Gavitt may just try it again. The undermanned Indians are a tried 'n' on the season, and a player must—when approached by an opponent—pass off to a teammate within five seconds or lose possession. Princeton will also have good for it the fact that Pennsylvania's deliberate style of play last weekend was blown wide open by the patient Tigers, availing the Quakers little more than ability to walk off the floor at the half trailing by only 4 (24-20). The hoc-absolutely Princetonians (62% in the first half) beat the visitors at their own game, and they widened the margin to ten points soon after the intermission. Penn's only chance was to resort to the rapid fire policy it had sought to avoid. The outcome was a 73-47 defeat.

Judson Burnham, a 6-7 sophomore, and Bill Stabileford, 6-5 junior letterman, provide Dartmouth with its only height. The principal point-makers are Captain Joe Colburn, 6-3 senior who was slowed by a bout with mononucleosis, and sophomore Henry Tyson. The Green hasn't beaten Princeton since 1961 and hasn't had a winning season in the present decade.

Saturday night, it will be Harvard at Cambridge. For no easily definable reason, Princeton basketball teams have had more trouble with this second division foe than any other opponent except the perennial all-stars. The Crimson took last year's Tiger quitters down to the wire in Dillon Gym before losing, 66 to 54. It was a buzzer-shot victim (John Havlicek) the year before, 25-58; and won on its own court in '64 and '65—the latter victory achieved in Bill Bradley's junior year.

Coach Floyd Wilson couldn't see his current crop hit best in 14 years, a spot that fields four boldover lettermen and is strongest in backcourt personnel. With regular play, the only 6-6 of both Royer and the 6-5 of both Royer against which the Crimson has been baffling but it has the potential to give any of the contenders a stiff fight on the Cambridge court.

Captain Bob Beller and Jeff Grate are the backcourt pair. Chris Gallagher and Bob Knutson make up the front line with Royer. The Crimson is 6-3 on the season after an 11-16 mark last winter.

CAPTAIN JOE, CAPTAIN: Joe Heiser of Princeton goes up for two points against Pennsylvania at Quaker captain Tom Northing (nearest him in dark uniform) tries to block shot in first half. Visitors held Tigers to 24-20 lead at intermission but were eventually swamped, 73 to 47. (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Bob Matthews) upsetting a favored opponent by making the one good shot must show the top floor percentage of the two. When Princeton, held to 11 field goals attempts by the stalling Quakers, made 9 of them for 42%, and the Quakers could connect on only 9 of 17 for 53%, the die was cast.

Both guards, Captain Joe Heiser and sophomore George Pettie, were seven for nine.

Able to penetrate the visitors' inconsistent man-for-man defense with short pop shots and frequent layups, the Tigers launched the second half in a highly successful fashion. Their 24-20 advantage grew to ten points (34-24) with 5:52 gone, and long before the 10-minute mark, their lead had soared to better than 20.

from the floor. Petrie had trouble with his foul shooting (one shot of 10) but then hit on all four—as he had against NYU earlier in the week—and a free-throw accuracy of 82.1% is within the top ten nationally.

Big Chris Thomforde fed the others well from a high post, adding 12 points to 18 for Heiser and 15 for Petrie. Dave Lawley started his first game for the season and was a major asset in ball handling, rebounding and defensive play.

Forty-eight hours' earlier the Tigers settled matters quickly against NYU in Madison Square Garden when they put a dozen points on the board before the Valets made one. As they have on other occasions, the Princetonnians failed to take complete charge after a good start, NYU paring its deficit to three points on a cost of 11 minutes trailing by no more than 36-30 at the half.

The Orange and Black was consistently in control, however, despite a game-high out of 24 by the lower's couple more, Jim Signorile. Thomforde led the Princeton pack with 21. Petrie added 19, Bob Heiser, 15, and Heiser a dozen. The final score was 78 to 62.

After the New York trip this weekend, the Tigers will be idle until a return match with Penn in the Palestra on Saturday, January 27. All of this is extremely beneficial from their point of view, with sophomore John Hammer's foot in a cast because of damage to the Achilles tendon. Hopes are he will be back before the vital weekend swing to Cornell and Columbia on February 2 and 3.

Saturday's game with Penn, incidentally, was a frustrating matter for thousands who would like to see the Tigers but can't get tickets to Dillon Gym. Both NBC channels in New York and Philadelphia, originally listed as telecasting the game live, pre-empted it for the Senior Bowl football game. The Dillon Gym action followed on tape over WPXI-TV at 3:30 and over KYW-3 at 5.

RHODE ISLAND NEXT
For Touring Set, Princeton's traveling hockey team, which played its last game in Baker Rink on December 8 and won't be home again until the 26th of this month, heads this week for Rhode Island. A three game tour of New York and Massachusetts ended Friday with a 4-4 tie against Boston College, preceded by losses to Clarkson and St. Lawrence.

Providence College, which the Tigers should play on even terms, and Brown, one of the top Ivy teams, are the week-end opposition. The game with the Friars is set for Friday night with Brown on the schedule the following evening.

Princeton hasn't managed to defeat Providence, which is not among the top eastern college hockey powers, since 1961. Last winter the Tigers managed a split with Brown in two unusually high-scoring games, winning here, 8-6, and losing away, 8-6.

Brown was stocked with veterans, a number of whom are Canadians. The Bruins pulled a stocher in Ivy class last month, upsetting Cornell, 6 to 2, at Providence, but have since bowed to the defending champion Ithacans twice by 3-2 scores.

One of the games was played in the ECAC Tournament in Madison Square Garden, the other was a return Ivy contest at Ithaca. Inasmuch as Harvard has since topped Brown and Cornell in turn blanked the Crimson, 9-0, the early trend points to another title for the Ithacans.

Near Miss. Only 90 seconds separated Princeton from a tremendous hockey achievement—ability to defeat Boston College twice in its own back yard. The highly regarded Eagles were 7-4 victims of the Tigers last month, and trailed,

They managed to deadlock the contest, however, sending the game into a ten-minute overtime period during which neither team scored. Jerry Kearney, Terry Piserman, Peter Stuckey and John McLean contributed the Princeton goals.

Earlier in the week, Clarkon skated to a 5-1 triumph over the Orange and Black at Potsdam, defenseman Tom Rawls averting a shutout for the losers. It has been 17 years since Princeton last defeated the Orange and Black in an on-ice contest.
At Canton against St. Lawrence, the score was closer, but the result the same: a 7-1 victory for the home forces. It was no more than 21 minutes that the Tigers until a second period outright good for three goals in as many minutes put the game out of reach. Captain John Rickie's two goals and an assist paced the Princeton attack, which also benefited from scores by McLean and Kearney.

POS SKATERS WIN FIRST
Met Cranford Home Friday. With an opening victory over Wissahickon, a team it lost to twice last week, the Princeton Day School hockey squad goes after its second win Friday afternoon at 4:30 against the Cranford Hockey Club on PDS ice.

Last year in what coach Jerry Rube-Miller called "our best game of the season," the Panthers defeated Cranford, 4-2. Rube-Miller commented that Cranford always manages to field a pretty good team, in spite of the lack of practice.

In preparation for Cranford, PDS was scheduled to scrimmage the Princeton freshmen on Wednesday afternoon. Last year the Panthers also scrimmaged the freshmen before the Cranford game and lost a one-sided encounter, but the experience gained put them in good form for Cranford.
The Wissahickon game was rather much of a contest, as PDS rolled up five of its seven goals before the visitors could manage their lone tally. Center Evan Donaldson led the at-

Question Of The Week

Question: Who do you think will win the Super Bowl? Green Bay or Oakland — and by how many points.

Where asked: Around town.

Larry McHugh, West Windsor, Princeton High School student: Green Bay . . . at least by 21! Why? Overpowering offense and a strong defense. Their passing game is unique. Oakland should do a little better than Kansas City—they've got a great fullback—but they're still not in the same league with the NFL. They could never merge.

Warren Russell, 32 Bayard Lane, Princeton assistant manager, Princeton Recreation Lanes: Green Bay by two touchdowns. It's just a better team.

Jack Alenworth, 211 Mather Avenue, Penns Neck: Green Bay by 20 or 21 points. The Packers have a better all-around team. Starr is in control. He knows when to call and can execute key plays. He's a good quarterback. The only way the AFL can win is if they play a team like the New Orleans Saints. Then it might be close.

John Casbill, 14 Clearview Avenue, Food Services, Princeton University: Green Bay can't miss. They can win by as much as they want. The only thing they have to be careful about is to keep it from being a farce, to keep it close.

David Toole Jr., 27 Chestnut Street, tile setter: Green Bay, but it'll be a little tighter than the Kansas City game. The spread will be about eight or nine points. Green Bay has a better organization, more experience.

Ralph Kleiher, 8 Robert Road, owner of appliance installation business: Green Bay by about one touchdown. One reason is I like them. I think they can do it.

Joseph Sierra, 345 Wither- spoon Street, barber for Continental Barber Shop, 38 Witherspoon: Green Bay. At least by three. I don't think Oakland has the ability to stay with Bart Starr. Green Bay is my favorite team.

Tony Sierra, 52 Erdman Avenue, barber, Continental Barber Shop: Green Bay by six points at least. Probably more—assuming they have been able to recuperate from the cold weather by then.

Will Kjelsrud, Little Hall, Princeton University senior: Green Bay by about 10 points. I think they have the ability to get up for it when the chips are down.

Pete Raymond, Little Hall, Princeton University senior:

Green Bay, but only by three. They can't make it too much of a slaughter, otherwise the commercial aspect of the game will be deadened for the future. The NFL is just that much better. Last year, Lombardi said that Kansas City couldn't have beaten a single team in the NFL.

Ernest Byard, Trenton, general utilities, Woodrow Wilson School: Green Bay by 16 points: More experienced team, more veterans on it. I give the Packers a lot of credit—they're all old pros.

Donald Randolph, 145 John Street, employee, Borough Engineering Department: Green Bay. I'll say by about 70 points. Let's face it, the boys are good. Really good. I'll stick by that 70.

Felix Simcoe, 339 Mount Lucas Road, employee, Borough Engineering Department: I think Oakland will win. It might be by even more than two touchdowns. I heard they had a good team. They've got a good quarterback.

Roger Madden, 16 Green Street, Food Mart employee: Green Bay—not by many. I'll say about 10 points. More experience. Packers are used to the big game.

Darryl Redding, Trenton, state engineer: I think Oakland will probably win in an upset. I'll say by 16 to 18 points. So far they've won all but one. They're moving pretty good now. They've got the momentum. They'll be trying hard to finish with a win.

Let's Do Some Scoring!

Before the start of the Democratic game, Coach told his squad. This team beat Brick Township, 3-1. (PIS in its only win till then and defeated Brick, 7-3). If they want to play a good game, they must beat and outscore.

PIS responded with a flurry of goals. John Rice scored the first on a shot from the cor-lack with four goals and an assist in picking up the squad's first two, the first just a couple of minutes after the opening face-off, and the last two.

Bob O'Connor counted with one tally and one assist, Jim Rudgers and John Taylor each had a goal, and Basil Stanton and Freddie Erdman contributed an assist apiece. The Panthers led 3-0 at the end of the first period and 5-1 at the close of the second.

PDS goalie Chris Reeve was not pressured much by the Wissahickon offense, making only 11 saves in the game. The Panthers, however, got off 21 shots on target against the Wissahickon goalie. The vis-sage goal came on a breakaway when the PDS defense got mixed up.

Rulon-Miller commented that the boys "looked much more loose and confident than last year." "Our control of the game was very encouraging," he said. He also cited Donald Summit's line, which includes Stephen and Connor, for its fairly good passing for most of the game.

PIS SKATERS WIN

Top Demarest, 7-5. Playing back-to-back games last week,
the Princeton High School hockey team defeated the Demarest Tigers 7-5 on Saturday afternoon at Baker
Rink, after being blanked, 4-0,
Friday evening by the Summit
Hockey Club at the Princeton Day School Rink. Coach Jones said the Panthers' goalies, Chris Reeve and Paul Rice, were outstanding in the win.

The hockey fortunes of the two schools have changed. In winning 7 of 17 last year, PIS was largely dominated by seniors—the last of the original hockey club which got the sport started at the high school. Gene is the incomparable Paul Rice, who led the team in scoring.

True, PDS is beginning its first season of varsity competition, but coach Harry Rulon-Miller has everyone back from a team that posted a 9-3 record last year. Coach noted that PDS scored 10 goals in its opening on Friday. Wissahickon defeated PIS twice last year.

"If we play well, we might be able to stay with them," said Cook. "PDS should be pretty strong this year."

Finish with 19 points,
including 11 out of 12 free
throws, to lead the winners.
Craig Page was high scorer,
pouring in 24 points, although he sat out portions of the second and third periods after picking up four personal foul calls. Bill Rigot finished with 14 points and grabbed 20 rebounds. Tom and Fred Anderson contributed 10.

The Panthers felt behind from the start, trailing 18-7 at the end of the first quarter never 25 feet out after only 1:18 into the first period. By 8:30 the first period, PIS had five goals. Jeff Delano added the sixth (9:40) and the seventh (12:11) for an incredible seven-goal period. In the same 15 minutes, Demarest scored twice.

"They didn't cover very tightly at the start and we took advantage of it," said Cook. "We got off to a fast start but then we sat on our lead for the rest of the day.
Our defensive play after was weak."

Clint Olson also scored a pair of goals to lead up with Delano in leading the attack.
It was an entirely different story the previous night against Summit. In failing to score, PIS was outclassed and outshelled.

ENGLEWOOD IS NEXT

For PIS Basketball Next.
Having advanced to its own court for the first time this season, the Princeton Day School basketball team meets Englewood School at 3 on Friday. The squad opened with a 10-58 loss to the Lawrenceville JV on Saturday, and was scheduled to play Wardlaw Country Day on Wednesday afternoon.

Down by 19 points with six minutes to go, the Panthers almost made up for three quarters of unproductive half-court ball with a fine rally that pulled them to within two points, 19-17, with 1:30 left.
However, guard John Ivins sank two crucial foul shots to give the Lancers a 69-59 advantage, and although PDS scored again, time ran out before it could get the ball back.

Finish with 19 points,
including 11 out of 12 free
throws, to lead the winners.
Craig Page was high scorer,
pouring in 24 points, although
he sat out portions of the second and third periods after picking up four personal foul calls. Bill Rigot finished with 14 points and grabbed 20 rebounds. Tom and Fred Anderson
contributed 10.

PIS WRESTLERS SPLIT

Defeat Lawrence, 15-18.
Princeton High School's wrestling team (14) won its first dual meet of the season, Friday when it defeated Lawrence 15-18. Scholastic 35-18, in the PHS gym. Two days earlier, it had lost to Ewing, 35-11.
Next, Coach Tom Murray's grapplers will face Notre Dame Friday afternoon at 4 in the PHS gym. PDS will invade the PHS gym Wednesday afternoon at 7:30 match.

Murray described the Lawrence as a "very good team."

SHADOWBROOK brick Colonial (from 1970) located on almost 2 acres overlooking the Shawnee River in nearby Bucks County.

Restoration has been done with great taste and authenticity and includes the house of new wiring and plumbing.

Both living and dining rooms are large (the living room a recent addition) as are the four bedrooms. The substantial fireplace is a real fire with slate roof. Shopping, excellent schools and good N.Y. commuting all easily available. $43,000

GOLF COURSE . . . (the Hopewell Valley Golf Club, to be exact) is right across the road! Old Colonial with beautiful shade trees, this beautiful area has developed a great deal of interest in modernization of this house. The result is a delightful place to live in with every modern convenience, yet the exterior and the grounds still retain charm which always comes to mind when one hears about an old farm house in the country. And the size of the house, the proximity of the golf course, and the extremely favorable price make this one of the best buys we have on our list. . . Entrance hall, den with bookshelves, paneled dining room, living room with fireplace and built in bar, broad new kitchen, roomy equipped. Second floor: 4 bedrooms, 4½ baths, 4 nice bedrooms & bath. Almost an acre of land. (sole agent) $132,000

CLASSIC COLONIAL . . . In nearby Lawrence, on a high corner lot, this delightful red shingled home, with white shutters and trim, is only 6 years old. 23 foot living room with fireplace. Separate dining room. Sunny family room off the kitchen, with adjacent powder room. Full basement. 2-car garage. Upstairs: 4 corner bedrooms, 2 baths. This is a spacious home in a fine neighborhood with plenty of children. School within walking distance. Walk-to-work car parking included. Aluminum storm & screen. Quick occupancy as the owners are building a new and larger home and can move within 30 days. (sole agent) $34,000

HILLTOP HOMES . . . built way back from the street, along tall trees and beautiful acre in one of Princeton's most neighborly nearby communities, the two-story Colonial house has 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths. First floor has foyer, living room with fireplace, separate dining room, den, kitchen, roomy kitchen and laundry. 2-car attached garage. Full basement. However, this property is much more than a nice 4-bedroom house in the country — here is a wonderful way to live . . . with a big 20x40 swimming pool, a lovely garden, complete privacy, and most of the land covered with herbs, trees and vines so that the owner can enjoy his weekends and not dedicate himself to a lawnmower . . . And, perhaps most interesting of all, there is almost an acre next door which can be bought and added to this property so that a little one-acre lot might be disposed of, thus considerably reducing the net cost of the property. (sole agent) $49,500

LAWRENCEVILLE . . . 5 bedrooms, 2½ baths, Large Colonial, built in 1962, on a wooded acre. Entry hall, living room 13 1/2 x 23, family room, family room with fireplace, modern kitchen, laundry & powder room. Central air-conditioning. Lovely pool. This is one of the beautiful homes in secluded "Lawncers", adjoining a college campus, where all this time can do to the property is make it more attractive . . . and more valuable. The owner has added many improvements to this property, and every mother will be delighted that there are lots of young children in this area and virtually no traffic on its quiet street. (sole agent) $59,900

Many more fine homes in Princeton and vicinity in every price range.
